ETFECH OF THE AMERICAN MINISTER ON CUBA, CANADA, AND THE RIGHTS OF NEUTRALS. On the 6th of April a submild banquet was given at the London Tavern to his Excellency the Governor-Gene-ral of Canada, over which Lord John Russell presided, and which was attended by upwards of three hundred conflerence.

On the six of Agril a spiralid banquet was gives at the London Tavern to his Excellency the Governor-General of Canada, over which Lors John Russell presides, and which was attended by uywards of three hundred gentlemen.

The Earl of Elgia, the Duke of Newcastle, his Excellency Mr. Eschaman, the Marquis of Abercore, Earl Parham, Lord Inferin, Earl Pearl, Cord Glenelg, with many members of both floures of Parliament, were present.

From the fact of so many parties and opinions being represented at this dinner, it is clear that the success of Lord Elgin's administration of the colony is universally acknowledged at heme.

After the usual loyal toasts had been disposed of, The Charlesian gave "The Army and Navy."

Sir J. MacDonnett returned thanks on behalf of the army, and Rear-Asmiral Kinny for the navy.

Lord J. Russell then rose, and said that he could not but feel it a great honor to have to propose, in the presence of so many emelience acquainted with the official administration of the colonies, in the presence of so many emelience acquainted with the official administration of the colonies, in the presence of so many emelience acquainted with the official administration of the colonies, in the presence of so many emelience of canada, the health of the noble lord who had presided with such distinguished merit over the government of Canada. (Cheers.) He rejoiced likewise that he was speaking in the presence of the representative of that great republic of the West whose some were derived from the same blood, spoke the same language, and inherited the same ancient laws as ourselves. (Cheers.) He might be permitted to mention three epochs of colonial government. There was that period when the colonies from this country were like the children of a liighland cottage, allowed to stray there they liked with the capatic the same ancient laws as ourselves. (Cheers.) He might be permitted to mention three epochs of colonial government. There was that period when the capatic them, or being the same time the risk of falli had continually agreed with the Governor-General in the policy he had pursued; and, whatever might have been the take of that magnificent province—whether it wished to remain connected with us in layalty to the same soverigm, or whother other views actuated the majority of the population—he hoped that the friendly feelings which had hitherto subsisted between them and the people of the United Kingdom would continue and always be maintained. (Cheers.) The noble level concluded by giving "the health of the Earl of Elgin," which was drunk with great enthusiasm.

ways be maintained. (Cheers.) The noble lerd concluded by giving "the health of the Earl of Elgin," which was drunk with girest enthusiasm.

The Earl of Eron replied at great length. In the course of his observations he alluded to the indifference which had bitherto been displayed at home with reference to the interests of the celony. The reception which he had that hight met with he took as an indication that Canada, which he described to be in a most prosperous state, would no longer have mything to complain of upon that score. The noble Earl took occasion to compliment the American Minister, who sat beside him, and to express the friendly feeling which prevailed among the Canadian people towards those of the United States.

The Earl of Elecants, in highly complimentary terms, proposed "The Health of his Excellency the American Minister," and in doing so referred to his own recent visit to the United States, to the hospitable reception which he received there, and to the impression which all that he had seen in the Western world had left upon him.

Mr. BUGMANS then rose and said—My. lords and gentlemen—by the name of my country men I thank your lardships most cordially for the kind sentiment which you have proposed in layer of my country, and myself, as its representative: and my gratitude is due to this large and distinguished company for the enthusiassa with which that sentiment has been received. This home will be justly appreciated on the other side of the Atlantic. If my countrymen themselves could have selected the individual by whom such gracious and kind words should be spoken, I am permaded their choice would have fallen upon the nuble earl. He has been amengst us—he has seen us at home, and has been amengst us—he has seen us at home, and has been amengst us—he has seen us at home, and has been amengst us—he has been the little blind.

There are thousands on the other side of the Atlantic who will respond to the universal sentiment of approbation in this country, when they learn that his so oresign has conferred upon him one of the highest and promest marks of distinction which it was in her power to bestow. Country has been the highest and promest marks of distinction which it was in her power to bestow. Other the highest and promest marks of distinction which it was in her power to bestow. Other the highest and promest marks of distinction which it was in her power to be the will never reach either his head or his heart. And here I ought, perhaps, to riop. We have been taught that after-dinner speeches are dangerous; and prudence might, on ordinary occasions, dictate that I should troceed no further. If, however, at a public dinner given to Lord Eight, as Governor-General of Canada, I should expose myself to the condemnation of my own countrymen. Under his culpithread government, her Majasty's North American provinces have realized the bleasings of a wise, pradent, and prosperous administration; and we, of the neighboring nation, though jealous of our rights, have reasen to be abundantly satisfied with his just can friendly conduct towards ourselves. (Hear.) His has known how to reconcile his devotion to her Majesty's service with a proper regard to the rights and interests of the kinired and neighboring people. Would to Henes we hed such governor-general in all the European colonies in the vicanity of the United States. His lordship has solved one of the most difficult problems of statesanassing. He has been able, successfully and satisfactorily to administer, amidst many difficulties, a colonial government over a free people. (Henes.) This is an easy risk where the commands of a despot are law to his obedient unificate, and the most difficulties, a colonial government over a free people, the same band privileges of native-born livitudes. It was a subject of the hearth of the history of the formal and privileges of native-born livitudes an The Earl of Harrowny proposed "The Health of Her

The Earl of Harrowny proposed "The Health of Her Majesty's kinitatera."

The Duke of Nawcastir said, that on all occasions it was most graifying to a government to receive from a company like that then assembled expressions of patriotic aspiration for the success of the measures taken by it to promote the honor and the welfare of the country. He agreed with his Excellency the American Minister upon the greatness of the career which lay before the Anglo Saxon race. That mighty despot with whom we were at war had been obliged to declare the provinces of his empire in a state of siege, but there was not one of our most distant colonies which did not desire the success of our arms, and which, agoner than see those arms worsted, would not send away every regiment from their whores, and which would not even directly aid us in the contest, if the cause of civilization and liberty which we were defending were placed in any danger. (Loud cheers.) Such were the results of that enlightened system of government which this country had adopted as its policy, and which was yet destined to exercise a vast manence, not only over the British empire, but over the welfare of the whole human family. (Cheers.)

Earl Gray proposed "The health of the Hon. Mr. Hincks, the Trime Minister of Canada."

Mr. Hincks in returning thanks, said he was deeply sonning of too bours which had been conserved upon him, but the compliment he felt was chiefly due to the position which he held as one of the advisers of the crown in Canada. His personal gratification, however, was merged in the importance of the present gathering and the effect which it was likely to have upon the people of Canada. So long as Canada was in a transition state it was exposed to danger from the want of confidence in the stability of its institutions, and the discoulty of borrowing messay for the great works required to develope her resources. But that was now over. Their canals had been highly remuserative, and now they were entering upon the construction of railreads, which already opened up a still more hepeful greepect of success. Referring to the noble East the Governor General he would say that his Lordship had never swerves from the principles which he armounced would guide kim when he eatered upon his high effice, and the presence of Canadians of all parties on this occasion testined to the ability and justice with which he had administered the affairs of the colony. (Cheers.)

The proceedings terminated with the toast of "Lady Eigh and the Ladies," a large number of whom graced the dining hall with their presence.

The London Times of the 7th, adds.—It is just twenty years since the province of Canada first horrowed money of this country. The loan was for twenty years, and the time being up on Saturday last, the last of April, 1854, the whole sum due was paid in full out of the surplus revenues of the province. This fact speaks volumes for the progress of the colony.

Liverroot, Friday, April 7, 1854.

COTTON MARKET.—A rather better feeling has prevailed in our market during the week, and with the exception of 'fair' Orleans, the quotation for which is raised Md., prices are the same as on Friday last.

Generally, there is less discouragement than of late, and could the public see their way to an early termination of the war, we might experience a rapid improvement; but, for the present, we must expect to remain in a state of uncertainty in this respect, and to witness continual changes in public feeling. Money is tolerably easy in London at five per cent on short paper, and consols have accounted about two per cent, closing at 87%. The Manchester market continues depressed, though, there likewise, there is rather less gloom than prevailed a week sgo.

The sales for the week are 34,480, of which 4,870 are for speculation and export, leaving 29,510 below to the trace. The market to-day is unchanged. Sales 5,000 ales. We quote fair Orleans at 5%d., do. middling 5%d.; declared a semi-annual dividend of four per cent.

Provisions.—Bacon is slow at the quotations; beef is in demand, at previous rates; pork quiet. The whele of the recent advance in lard has been lost, and the market ends dull. In tallow the business reported is moderate. The season for cloversuch is passing away, and hellors are anxious sellers.

Brainsturs.—Flour has receded 8s. per barrel from highest point of last week. In wheat transactions are unimportant, and value irregular. Indian Corn is saleable at 41s. to 42s. for all sorts.

Corron.—There is scarcely any change to notice in the market since the suffling of the Arotic. THE LATEST LIVERPOOL MARKET.

LIVERPOOL, Saturday, April 8.—Culton sales to-day 5,000 bales. Market steady at yesterday's quotations. Ereadstuffs unchanged—not cheaper.

Haves Market, April 6.—Market closed after receipt of the Asia's news within good demand and well supported rates. Sales of the week 6,500, stock 115,500 bales, deducting parcels forwarded into the interior ex-ship. From the manufacturing districts the same complaints continue. Nicaragua Transit advanced ¾ per cent; Crystal Palace, T; Eric Railroad, ¼; Stonington, 1%. Within the past week Crystal Palace has advanced six per cent, with small sales. This improvement has been produced by the report that certain parties in-timately connected with the management have been purchasing. We do not see anything in this fact that would justify outside purchases at present prices. Whatever purchases have been made by speculators in the board of directors have been made for effect, and as soon as the desired effect has been produced the probability is they will sell. It must be borne in mind that the one hundred thousand dollars raised by subscriptions have been paid for two hundred thousand tickets, and that the number is equal to full one-third of the total number of visiters to the palace from the first opening to the close last year. These two hundred thousand tickets will be sold by parties holding them for any price they can get. Deduct this number from the previous aggregate of via-iters, and there will not be many left to the company. The stock is a poor purchase at anything like the present

The Committee of Finance in the Legislature of Ohio have reported a bill which appropriates one million nine hundred dollars for the payment of interest falling due $978,560 for interest falling due on the 1st days of July and January following; and for the purpose of raising these sums, levies a tax of one and a quarter mills on th dellar valuation of 1854, and one mill on the dellar valu-ation of 1855. It also provides for levying a tax of threefeurths of a mill on the dollar valuation for 1855, for payment of principal of the public debt which falls due on the 1st of January, 1857. By levying this tax, the committee feel confident that the $4,492,143 24 of the public debt which falls due on the 1st of January, 1857, can be paid at maturity.

For some time past there has been great depression in the bonds of the Ogdensburg Raircad Company. A few days since the Bosten Board of Brokers resolved not to buy or sell the second mortgage bonds in consequence of some repudiation on the part of the company. The Boston Courier thus speaks of them:—

In the first week of January, 1853, (one year ago,) the second mortgage seven per cent bonds of the Ogdensburg Railroad were sold at the Stock Exchange and at privace sale for investment, at 59 per cent, to many parties—some of whom held them now. The present price is but 52 per cent—and as the first quotation is 89 per cent higher than this, an alarming depreciation in market value is clearly manifested, and such as should prempt the most earnest inquiries of the bondholders as to the cause of this effect, it will be remembered that last Scatember an announcement spincared in the newsprempt the most earnest inquiries of the sondarders as to the cause of this effect. It will be remembered that last September an announcement appeared in the newspapers that the Ogdensburg Corporation had disposed of all their remaining bonds—amounting to $700,000—at par, and that the proceeds would be sufficient to pay the entire floating debt. That statement was undoubtedly true, but as the cash payments for the purchased bonds were but a small per estage of the whole amount, the creditors of the Corporation have been obliged to take part cash for their demands, and to renew the balances for stated period, with the corporation bonds as collateral security. In the meantime, that portion of the bonds sold and delivered at par, in a compromise bargain with two other corporations, have not been held for investment, but forced upon a tight mency market, and have the genused the frightful decline.

The London Times of the 7th inst. says:—

The English stock market opened this morning with an upward tendency, and, after obtaining a further advance of % per cent, closed weaker, but still ½ per cent higher than yesterday. Investments of the dividends and of the approaching South Fea Stock re-payments, are believed to have chiefly influenced to-day's improvement, coupled with renewed reports of concillatory overtures having been made by the Emperor of Rusara through the Frussian court. The re-section was mainly due to some large sales of stock on account of the Bank of England. There seems little disposition to attach importance to these reports of overfures from the Carr. If such have really been made, it is believed the object sought to be attained by Nicholass is to propitiate the German courts, to the prejudice of Great Britain and France. From Paris are received rumers that a fresh conference of the four Powers is probable, and this report is referred to as having tended materially to produce a marked rise on the Paris bourse to-day. Stock was more wanted to-day by the dealers, who showed engerness to borrow it.
